

TEN BALLOTS BUT NO CHOICE YET

Cox Gains Steadily As Delegates Continue To Vote For Nominee At Frisco

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, July 3.—Nine unsuccessful ballots in the Democratic National Convention aroused talk today of a dark horse. Neither the Cox, Palmer or McAdoo forces showed any signs of giving up to one another but made steady, fluctuating gains from the field.

Many state delegations continued casting ballots for men they had no idea of nominating simply because their leaders were unconvinced at that stage that either of the big three would win and were holding back to get into a compromise movement should one appear.

Ninth Ballot—McAdoo 386; Cox 321 1-2; Palmer 257
Tenth Ballot—McAdoo 385; Cox 321; Palmer 257.

San Francisco, July 3.—Balloting for a presidential candidate was resumed when the Democratic National Convention met today. As delegates assembled predictions were made that a nomination will come without a protracted struggle. McAdoo appeared in the ascendancy.

The fourth ballot still found McAdoo, Palmer and Cox leading in that respective order, making occasional small gains, about evenly divided.

McAdoo led in gains on the first ballot of Saturday, but the predicted slide to him failed to materialize. Most of the original voters stood fast.

The total for the three leaders was:

McAdoo, 323 1-2 votes.

Palmer, 252 1-2 votes.

Cox, 177 votes.

McAdoo gained 34 1-2; Cox gained 18 and Palmer lost 11 1-2.

North Carolina furnished the first break to McAdoo, swinging from Senator Simmons.

Votes for other candidates ranged from 92 for Smith, 26 for Cummins, Meredith and Marshall each, down to one each for Bryan and Daniels.

Kentucky cast 23 for Cox and 3 for McAdoo on the third ballot.

On the fourth ballot the lines held fast again and the opposition to McAdoo was smiling. The Kentucky vote was unchanged.

Nebraska's solid vote for Hitchcock broke, some going to McAdoo, Meredith and Owen.

Nevada switched her six from Cox to McAdoo. Gerard's block in South Dakota broke, most going to Palmer.

At the end of the fourth ballot the leaders stood:

McAdoo, 339.

Cox, 178.

Palmer, 254.

McAdoo gained 15 1-2, Palmer 2 1-2 and Cox 1.

Wilson Pleased At Convention's Course

San Francisco, July 3.—President Wilson in a telegram to National Chairman Cummings, read to the convention today, declared the course the Democratic party had taken with respect to the League of Nations filled him with "perfect confidence that it will go from victory to victory until the traditions of the republic are vindicated. This is a conquering purpose and nothing can defeat it," the President asserted. The message was in reply to greetings from the convention.

The fifth ballot resulted:

McAdoo, 357.

Palmer, 244.

Cox, 181.

The Kentucky vote was unchanged.

On the sixth ballot, Indiana broke to Cox with 7; Iowa broke to Palmer with 26, under the unit rule.

Kentucky still voted 23 for Cox and 3 for McAdoo.

The result was:

McAdoo, 368 1-2.

Palmer, 265 1-2.

Cox, 195.

After the sixth ballot a brief recess was declared in order to give several delegations time to caucus and decide what they would do on the seventh ballot.

All three leaders were stronger at the beginning of the seventh ballot than they had been at any time since balloting began, Palmer having more than picked up his loss of the fifth ballot. A big break to Cox in the New York delegation on the seventh ballot was forecast.

EXAMS TOO DRASTIC CLAIM OF TEACHERS

But Few Younger Ones Taking Examinations In Several Counties, Say Reports

Teachers taking the recent examination are anxiously awaiting the return of the grade papers, and it is the general belief that a greater average will pass successfully than the previous returns showed. However, there is much discussion regarding the small percentage of teachers passing. The fact is that some of the instructors who have had years of experience in teaching state that the situation regarding the examinations are too drastic. The examinations which were formerly of the same order, according to state school officials, were handed over to the county school boards who had the grading to do. Now this is being done by a commission named by the state education board. This, local teachers assert, may have something to do with the results.

The results upon teachers and those applying to positions even as teachers in rural schools, it is very apparent since in a certain county the other day there were but three applications received. This is a most extraordinary decrease, and the attention of the state officials has been called to it.

While it is claimed there will doubtless be a dearth of instructors in various parts of Kentucky, it is not expected there will be a shortage here since it is felt that all positions in Madison county especially will be filled. The question as to whether there will be any relaxation regarding the examinations is not known. State instructors have insisted upon strict attendance at institutes upon the part of all teachers and also that they adhere strictly to all rules pertaining to duty during the school hours. It is a question whether the grade papers will be returned in time for any of those taking the recent examination to take positions the coming term of school. Superintendent B. F. Edwards, of the Madison county schools, hurried the papers to Frankfort in an effort to have them examined and returned as soon as possible.

New York Gives Cox 68

The forecast proved correct. New York gave Cox 68; McAdoo, 16, and scattered her others. The delegation swung entirely from Smith.

This action kicked up a great rumpus, for the damage in this big state was potential.

The Kentucky vote was unchanged. The Kentucky delegation joined in a demonstration which New Jersey, Indiana, Mississippi, Ohio and Maryland joined. It was the first demonstration of a slide to anybody.

On the seventh ballot, New Jersey also broke to Cox, throwing him 25 votes in a block, which had been cast solidly for Edwards. This threw the convention hall into a tumult again. Three New Jersey votes went to McAdoo.

The result was:

McAdoo 384.

Cox 295 1-2.

Palmer 267 1-2.

Eighth Ballot

On the eighth ballot, Kentucky which all along voted 23 for Cox and 3 for McAdoo, voted the same on the eighth. The result was:

McAdoo 380.

Cox 315.

Palmer 262.

Was in the lead at one time during the eighth, but Texas flopped with 40 votes to McAdoo and put him in the lead again.

Washington, Pa., July 1.—If Warren G. Harding is elected president of the United States, this pretty little university city in the hills of western Pennsylvania will be bound up closer than ever with the White House, for not only did Senator Harding's ancestors live here, but the father of President Wilson also was a resident of Washington.

Senator Harding's great-grandfather, William Van Kirk, was one of the early settlers of Franklin township, and he and his wife are buried in the family graveyard on the Charles Van Kirk farm near Point Lookout. Senator Harding is honorary president of the Van Kirk family society and frequently has attended the annual reunion here.

AMERICAN LEGION BECOMING ACTIVE

Members of the Jesse M. Dykes Post, No. 12, American Legion, are preparing for an important business meeting which has been called for next Monday night, when it is expected that there will be a number of members from various parts of the county in the city and able to attend. The attendance and general interest in the proceedings of the Post recently have been decreased owing to the fact that many of the members have been engaged in such a manner that the work of handling the business has fallen upon the shoulders of a very few residents of Richmond. The conditions are expected to change soon when the new headquarters and other matters come up which will be of interest to all. The membership of the Post continues to increase, and there is a goodly number of others contemplating registering with the organization soon.

There will be some of the members in attendance at the Lexington Fourth of July celebration next Monday. The program is an interesting one and an invitation has been extended. The local Post is attracting attention since it's activity recently in the way of entertainments begun, and others are expected to follow within a short time. This will be one of the matters coming up at the next meeting, hence the desire for a large attendance.

All Cases Postponed In Local City Court

There was to have been a series of hearing in city police court on Friday night. However, for one special reason, all were continued for one week by City Judge G. Murray Smith. All prosecuting witnesses were unable to be present. The cases were Boyd Sandlin, charged with unlawful firing of firearms, resulting from an attack upon the past of Simpson Rogers, it is alleged, at the Richmond hotel recently; N. B. Hill, colored, charged with assault upon Frank Cavanaugh, also colored, the latter being at a hospital as a result of knife wounds.

LICENSE AND TAX CAUSE DISCUSSION

Small Dealers Assert They Are Paying Too Much Tax, But Law Is Plain

What is a general store? That is a question puzzling too many small dealers in the city and one that has been brought up before the city officials repeatedly during the past month. Some of the smaller dealers declare that there is no direct discrimination. However, they feel that there is something wrong and are expressing dissatisfaction in the new ruling relative to tax and license.

The cigarette license is one of the obstacles, and while there is a distinctive license called for in one sense of the word, when dealing with this, it is said to be included where the general license for a merchandise store comes in. The greater dealers who have immense stocks do not feel the extra tax on these commodities, but the smaller ones who perhaps have but a few hundred dollars invested in stock at the greatest, believe they are paying too much tax. That's the reason this kick is being made, but the law was clearly explained at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night by City Attorney Chenault, as it has been heretofore, as well as much advice given and information freely proffered by various other city officials—yet there is that intangible, puzzling feature, to-wit, the license of the small dealer is said to be out of proportion when the valuation of the stock or money represented in the business is considered. This, it is admitted, may be true, but the law is plain, and the general store license admits one to increase his stock to his liking, and, as one councilman put it, he has no limit to his stock, for the general license admits his selling a greater variety, and if the stock or variety is too small, the small dealer will doubtless suffer. It was voted unanimously to let the rules and regulations stand, without interference, except by the constant picking at it by various dealers.

LEGUMINOUS HAY ACREAGE PREDOMINATES

Alfalfa now has an acreage greater than that of any other legume or grass cut for hay, not growing in combination with another. Of the total tame hay acreage in 1919, alfalfa occupied 21.1 per cent, timothy and clover mixed 18.2 per cent, timothy 15.9 per cent, clover 12.3 per cent, pea 8.7 per cent, grain cut green 7.7 per cent and all others 16.1 per cent. If the acreage of timothy and clover mixture is equally divided between these two plants, the timothy acreage becomes 25 per cent of the total of tame hay acreage, and clover 21.4 per cent, so that timothy is still the leading hay plant and the clovers have second place, a little above alfalfa.

The leguminous plants, alfalfa, clover, one-half of clover and timothy, and pea are 51.2 per cent of the tame hay acreage and it is a significant fact that more than one-half of the tame hay acreage is now devoted to plants of the nutritive and soil improving properties of the legumes, whereas, 10 years ago, as the census testifies, hardly one-third of the tame hay area was leguminous. This comparison has been established by the bureau of crop estimates.

BRYAN CAUSED BIG DEMONSTRATION

With His Speech Advocating Dry Plank, But It Was Overwhelmingly Beaten

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, July 2.—After William Jennings Bryan had started one of the greatest and noisiest demonstrations of the convention with one of his old time speeches in support of a bone dry plank to the Democratic platform, his platform was defeated by the convention. A substitute by Pearson Hobson termed "extra dry" was also defeated. A substitute plank advocating light wines and beer was also defeated, the convention declining to advocate any mention of prohibition in the platform.

When Bryan had concluded his reply to the advocates of a wet plank, the demonstration cut loose on the floor and wholly unaided by the band or the organ of any of the other instrumentalities which had been effectively used to keep other demonstrations going, it proceeded spontaneously and related all efforts to get the convention back to order.

After Senator Glass had concluded his reading of the platform, and moved its adoption Bryan bounced out of his chair upon the platform to begin his fight for his minority plank. He was greeted with a minute of cheering in which very few delegates took part. Opening his speech diplomatically, with praise for the platform, he declared it one of the strongest ever adopted by a political party. He added that whatever difference of opinion there had been in the platform committee had been over the means and not the end, but it was one of the prerogatives of a Democrat to speak his own views.

"I am glad to come to you and say that I am ready to contend with all that is within there," he continued, and an uproar of approval and disapproval stopped him.

"Make it all, make it all," yelled several of the delegates. Under the rules Mr. Bryan was required to read all of his proposed planks before the discussion of any of them could begin. The bone dry proposition he presented first and then followed the declarations he had drafted for publication of a government bulletin for dealing with profiteers and to put the party on record as opposing compulsory military training in times of peace.

When he came to the last of his five planks, which dealt with the League of Nations, Mr. Bryan prefaced its reading by saying that nothing contained in it was intended to conflict with the majority's platform's words of praise for the President. The peace treaty, he added, was "better than any one had a right to expect," considering the circumstances with which the president had to deal. Some "noises" interrupted the reading of the Bryan plank, but its provision also met some applause. It demanded an amendment to the constitution for ratification of treaties by a majority vote of the senate.

When Bryan finished reading his planks he sat down and W. Frank Cochran, of New York, another veteran of many Democratic conventions, was recognized also to present a minority report.

Edward L. Doheny, of California, was the next to bring in a minority plank. It was in part the Irish plank for which an unsuccessful fight had been waged by organized Irish sympathizers in the committee, but as read by Mr. Doheny it did not contain a declaration for recognition of the Irish republic.

Presenting the minority plank of solid relief, Thomas Lyons, of Oklahoma, declared the division on its adoption in the committee had been so close that it took three roll calls before it was certain that it had been defeated.

While the minority propositions were being read, the leaders conferred and agreed on a plan to limit debate to three and one-half hours. Chairman Robinson presented the arrangements to the convention.

Mr. Cochran's minority report was a wet plank. He told the convention that Mr. Bryan consented to let the committee's report stand, he doubted whether the vets would have raised the question, but Bryan and evasion are irreconcilable within the same hall," he added, "and now the issue has been raised, thank God, the convention can no longer ignore it."

A roar of cheering greeted the language of the plank which declared for manufacture and home consumption of cider, light wines and beer.

Beginning his speech with an argument in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment, Mr. Bryan said that the convention to cheering every Democratic state, he said, "and raised the amendment and every one recognized that the liquor traffic is dead never to be resurrected."

"The only question is whether we shall recognize it as dead," he said, "or allow it to lie out on the ground uncovered. Decency requires that a corpse be put out of sight."

The liquor interests, said Mr. Bryan, were not trying to reopen the question but now had come down to advocating wine and beer for home consumption only. He argued that to remain silent on the subject would leave open the possibility of change in the law to increase the alcoholic contents. "I want to leave no opening for misunderstanding or quibble," he said. "So I have put into my plank the provision that there shall be no weakening of the law. What we hate is alcohol, and we hate it whether we find it in whisky, in wine or in beer. They tell you that wine is a bacchanal drink, but you will find that through the ages it has been wine that has cursed mankind."

Briefly he presented the merits of the proffering plank, which he said he could not put into the Republican platform because "nearly all the proffers were there in the convention or in the galleries."

story devoted entirely to the com-of bachelors.

There are some attractive things, unquestionably, about this wonderful hostelry. It will minister to human comfort in many ways undreamed of by former generations, and in some ways hardly imaginable as yet by the present generation. It will have a beautiful location, fronting on Lake Michigan and one of the city's finest thoroughfares. But 4,000 rooms! A whole townful of people under one roof! Thousands of men, women and children concentrated, on one spot, and swarming like a vast colony of ants in a great ant-hill. The thought is almost overwhelming to any normal man or woman living a normal life.

And is that hotel prophetic of the way the race is destined to live in the future? Heaven forbid! It may content some over-civilized, hothouse specimens of humanity permanently; it may interest normal human beings transiently as a novelty, but surely it will not long satisfy real men and real women, not to mention real children. Think of growing up in a place like that. The mind turns from the thought almost with horror, and with renewed appreciation of the modest little house and yard that are the rightful heritage of every American family.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to

PETITIONS FOR SOFT DRINK LICENSES

To whom it may concern—and it apparently concerns many, for there are petitions, both verbal and otherwise, confronting the city officials regarding the license for dispensing soft drinks. The hot weather period is productive of the petitions which ask for special license to sell soft drinks at places of amusements on "special nights" or special places on this or that particular night. The answer to all of which is, according to Mayor Evans and City Attorney Charnault, that if you want to sell soft drinks, take out a license for a year, and then go ahead and sell wherever you please, and any night you please.

"This is the matter explained in a jiffy," said the city attorney, in speaking of the matter which has been giving him and others more or less trouble for some time. It is impossible to issue a license for one night or for several nights. The license question is simply the procuring of license for the period of one year, and is so stipulated in the new law, and this will cover all requirements during the year; then it is up to the seller to dispose of his goods according to his own discretion.

Change in Ice Prices

In January, 1920, this Company made contract for its coal requirements at $4.00 per ton f. o. b. mines.
After making this contract for coal, which is one of the largest items of expense entering into the manufacture of ice, we adopted what we considered a fair schedule of prices for the year 1920.

Due to the shortage of cars and transportation difficulties, it has been impossible for us to get the coal which we have bought on contract, hence, it has been necessary for us to go into the open market and buy coal at prices around $8.00 per ton at the mines. As a result, it is necessary that the prices of ice be revised again to accommodate the increased cost of coal and other items entering into the manufacture of ice.

Effective July 5, 1920

the following schedule of prices will be charged by this Company for its product:

Residence deliveries	80c per 100 pounds
Single blocks	75c per "
Larger quantities	70c per "

It is our hope that the cost of coal, etc., necessary for the production of our product will become cheaper later on, in which event our prices will be revised accordingly.

Though the outdoors be zero you can enjoy the indoor comfort of seventy in a well ventilated and moistened atmosphere.

You can chase away forever the cold floors and chilly draughts which all Winter long are a constant menace to your health.

Moore's Simple System of heating, which can be easily installed in your house, will insure the lives, health, comfort and well being of the whole family.

A uniformly heated, properly moistened, and well ventilated atmosphere indoors is the surest protection against the ravages of colds, pneumonia, influenza and other indoor diseases.

With but one fire to tend, twice a day and controlled by a simple regulator in the hall or living room, a lot of the steps and bother of keeping warm are no longer necessary.

Two tons of coal as good as three by burning the gas, smoke and soot, which in other furnaces are all wasted—

Coal is getting to be a strong item in the family expense account. But there is a way to beat this higher cost of fuel.

Moore's Anti Carbon firepot constantly mixes air with the burning fuel so the gas, smoke and soot, are all ignited and converted into heat. It will burn slack as well as lump coal.

The United States government statistics show that this same old gas, smoke and soot constitute 38 per cent of the heating power of soft coal. The same authority also states that in ordinary stoves and furnaces these elements pass up the chimney unburned and are wasted.

With Moore's Furnace this 38 per cent of fuel is saved and in addition to that feature you get a Self-Cleaning Radiator which insures all of the heat being delivered to your rooms. One Oxydized Copper Register covers the only opening in the floor.

SAME OFFENSE COSTS MORE
Another blow has been dealt to the anti-prohibitionists at Paducah. According to the new state laws, all persons found guilty in police court of drunkenness will be fined $10. Heretofore the fine for a "plain drunk" was $1 and costs, or a total of $4. The $10 will carry no costs, but it's a 120 per cent increase over the old.

What's the Difference Now?

Southampton, Eng., July 2—Plymouth Rock is not the only port connected with the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers, says Mayor S. G. Kimber, of this city, in a letter to the newspapers.

"It was from the ancient port of Southampton, that the famous Mayflower set sail on August 15, 1620, in company with a smaller vessel, the Speedwell," he says. "Owing to accidents the voyage was delayed by temporary stoppages, first at Dartmouth and then at Plymouth and it was from the latter port that the Mayflower resumed her voyage alone."

School Teachers Assured

Each day brings about a number of changes in the retinue of teachers for the schools of the county and a number of new instructors are being added to the list, indicating that there will be a complete list by the time the schools are to open and there are no vacancies expected. County Supt. Ben Edwards stated today that there would be a meeting of the Board next week when the matter of listing the teachers as employed, would be one of the features.

Plans are completed for court day Monday, and there promises to be much activity in the city, since the day will be considered a holiday by many, owing to the Fourth coming on Sunday. The city will take on a busy aspect at an early hour, it is believed, and there will be the usual activities in the way of horse dealings.

DELEGATION FROM SCOTT COUNTY DUE

Teachers Will Arrive, Sixty
Strong, To Receive Special Instruction at Normal

Next Monday the Scott county school teachers will be here, paying their second annual visit to Eastern Normal, instead of holding their own institute "at home" and they will come sixty strong, in charge of their county superintendent, Miss Mary Bradley, who stated that the trip to this city was the result of a vote which was unanimous, "multiplied by two."

The teachers will be regularly entered, enrolled and assigned to classes and have work to do the same as the regular students. They will be given all possible instruction along lines laid out by President Coates, of the school, and will be given opportunities of hearing lectures, attending the last few days of the Chautauqua, and other events which will go far toward their entertainment, as well as enlightenment.

Miss Bradley is one of those progressive ones who is very familiar with the details of school work, from the beginning, and has a knack of pleasing her teachers, as well as having the latter please her. Her work in the schools of Scott county is attracting wide attention. She is not adverse to the teachers coming to Richmond, instead of staying at home and doing their studying there.

The visitors will be given quarters on the campus and all have planned a busy program for every day of their stay here.

Indications are that next year there will be a number of other schools come here instead of holding the old-style institute at home. There have been applications upon the part of many already. All possible accommodations will be made for them and visitors will be welcome, whether in a delegation from some special school or otherwise. The number of new students interested in school work indicates that there are many preparing to take up special branches taught at the Normal.

APPLICATION FOR VETERANS' MEDAL

Stone W. Norman, secretary of the Home Service section of the American Red Cross, has been informed that petitions for bronze decoration medals will be received at his office on and after Tuesday, July 6. There are 4,800,000 veterans to wear them. Applicants may apply at the local American Legion post as well.

It will be necessary for petitioners to bring a discharge certificate, have a certified copy made, which will accompany the application. Arrangements have been made whereby the copying may be made at the local Red Cross office, and the matter will be taken up immediately. It is expected that there will be a number of applications, since such can be made at Lexington. However, there were none of the local veterans who made application.

MEXICAN TRAIN BLOW UP AMERICANS ESCAPE IN

Washington, July 2.—Americans were aboard the Mexican armored train which was attacked in Chihuahua recently by bandits, the State Department was advised today by the American consul at Chihuahua City. The Americans and other occupants of the train were uninjured.

The bandits blew up the water car and armored cars, but the engine and passengers coaches escaped damage.

Calls for Road Work Becoming Numerous

There are calls coming in for more road work, residents of the rural parts of the county fearful that the highways adjoining their properties will be overlooked. County Road Engineer Baxter is busy with a number of corps of workmen, dividing the work, trying to please everybody.

Mrs. Lawson Recovering From Recent Operation

AMERICAN CARS, THOSE OF ENGLAND

There is one motor car to every 120 person in the population of Great Britain, in comparison with one car to every 16 persons in the United States.

This is the estimate of Sir H. P. Maybury, director of the roads department of the ministry of transportation of England.

According to the estimates furnished by Maybury, there are 750,000 mechanically propelled vehicles in Great Britain, against 6,146,177 in the United States, according to a census made last year.

It is not stated if these figures include motorcycles, but if they do it greatly decreases the number of motor cars in Great Britain, as there are a large number of motorcycles in use in the United States.

SOMEONE'S GUESS IS FAR FROM MARK

There are many arguments being presented and now the automobile is said by the American Petroleum Institute to be the consumption of gasoline:

In 1911 there were 700,000 automobiles in the United States, cause of advances in price and 220,449,391 barrels of crude oil were produced. In 1919 there were 7,558, 848 automobiles, and the country produced 377,719,900 barrels of crude oil.

In the period from 1911 to January 1, 1920, therefore, the number of automobiles increased 979 per cent, while the production of crude oil increased only 71 per cent. It is estimated that there will be 9,983,848 automobiles in use in the United States before this year ends.

Other statisticians claim there is sufficient gasoline to last for 50 years, no matter what the consumption.

The public's attention is called to the fact that they must keep their trees and shrubbery on public pass-ways trimmed according to the laws of the state. This law applies to the city as well as the country.

IT IS RUMORED

that there are several farms in this county which can be bought and we would like to get in touch with these farmers. We already have the money. Let us get together this week.

GASOLINE SCARE IS PSYCHOLOGICAL

A noted authority says the gasoline scarcity is purely psychological and claims there will be gasoline for us, for our children and our children's children.

The United States geological survey says: "7,629,000,000 barrels of oil in the United States fields—enough for 20 years at the present rate of consumption. The world's deposits, 60,000,000,000 barrels, enough for 168 years."

The United States bureau of mines reports: "Reserve gasoline stocks in March reached 626,393,046 gallons, an increase in thirty days of 80,330,617 gallons. Surplus of production of gasoline, 1919, 149,446,488 gallons. Total production in 1919, 3,957,857,097 gallons."

NEGOTIATING FOR BOONESBORO BEACH

Chicago Amusement Company
May Take Over and Greatly Improve Noted Resort

Negotiations are pending the culmination of which is expected yet this week, and for the first time in its history the noted and beautiful Boonesboro Beach is to be transferred to foreign ownership, according to a statement of the owner, Dr. J. D. Williams, on Saturday morning. The amusement company is one of the largest in the central west, and contemplates extensive improvement at the beach, which will be converted into a thoroughly modern summer resort.

The contract will call for the property in its entirety, with the exception of the cottages, which will be retained by Dr. Williams. There will be mineral spring bath together with all modern paraphernalia, provided for the beach, and no end of amusements. It will be the intention of the company to transform the amusement place into a regular "Coney Island" in the way of entertainment, and it is said that some of the noted attractions from the bigger places controlled by the company will be brought to Kentucky.

The improvements started by the Richmond man, who has had control of the property, will be extended by the purchasing company, according to present plans, and will be extended very materially. Dr. Williams stated that a representative of the company would be here Sunday and make a final inspection of the property and that the consummation would doubtless be recorded Monday, at the latest.

PURINA FEEDS

BRYAN CAUSES BIG DEMONSTRATION

The plank was now offered to the Democrats, he added, in order to drive out of the party any profiteers who might remain in it.

The plank against military training also was argued very briefly by the speaker and then turned to his league declaration.

"The constitution changed," he said, "so we cannot get out of war as easily as we can get into war. We fought the war to establish the great principle of democracy, the principle of majority rule. If we declare here for ratification of the treaty with reservations that a majority of the senators agree on, the Republicans will have to join in that declaration or else we will take most of the Republican party away."

"Isn't it better to take this stand which will insure acceptance of the League of Nations, which the people want and put the banner of progress into the hands of Woodrow Wilson to carry forward?"

Mrs. Peter Olsen, of Minnesota, was the next speaker to be called by Mr. Bryan in support of his program. She said she spoke in the name of the motherhood of a great country in supporting the dry declaration.

"I am told," she said, "that somewhere in a lodge room in this building there is a coffin. I wonder whether that coffin is prepared for the liquor in this country of the Democratic party. For if you put in this wet plank, you might as well get the coffin ready."

It was not the liquor interest but the Nonpartisan League, she said, that recently defeated Representative Volstead, author of the Volstead act, for re-election in Minnesota.

"Sir Oliver Lodge has recently passed over this country," she continued, "holding communion with departed spirits. But for the smell of the breaths of some of the men here in San Francisco I think they have been in communication with the ghosts to have been holding converse with John Barleycorn."

In a dramatic emotional appeal which got the convention again to its feet, Mrs. Olsen asked that God should help her in the fight she was making, for it was for the sake of her child that she was fighting.

"Let it never be said," she cried, "that the Democratic party thinks more of its chances than of the children of the land. God speed the right."

"God speed the right," repeated Mr. Cochran in beginning his address. With that the last speaker concluded and with that he began, "I am opposed to the word prohibition. I abhor it. It is the word you will find chalked up in all the penitentiaries."

If it is necessary to have prohibition and force the people to do what they do not want to do, then I say they are not fit for self government and are ready for submission to anarchy.

There really are theories of government, said the speaker, that of democracy, which rests on trust and confidence in human virtue, and that of oligarchy, which rests on coercive measures to curb the dissipated popular faculties.

"Substitute for our democratic faith the coercion that holds a club over people to make them good," he continued, "and you have destroyed the only condition of society under which democracy can exist."

"We are not proposing the new tear own any constitutional provision. The eighteenth amendment declares illegal the sale of intoxicating liquors and it declares that the nation and the state shall have concurrent jurisdiction. The federal government cannot enforce that without the machinery of federal officials which has never been provided and which it would be almost impossible to employ."

"This amendment isn't enforced now and it can't be. It may be enforced in some sections where no amendment was necessary just as the fourteenth amendment is enforced in some north."

"These women and men speak as the liquor had been abolished by this amendment. The result has been where the average drinker used to be, jolly, now he is paralyzed. He used to touch the bottle to spur his enterprise and now he gets no further than the bottle, which in itself becomes his enterprise."

While Cochran was speaking Bryan sat smiling in a great plush chair close behind, evidently enjoying the flower of the New Yorker's oratory. The crowd enjoyed it, too, and answered him again and again with thundering applause.

"If a man in Oregon can by his vote regulate what I shall drink in New York," said the speaker, "then he can do the same thing with what I eat and what I shall wear. And that is not a just government. That is not this government as it was originally perfected by the fathers."

"I ask you not to vote to bring back rum but to bring back to the localities the right to govern themselves. Let it once be conceded that morality can only be enforced with a club by the federal government and where can you stop? How long will it be, men of the South, when your treatment of the negro question, the most successful in the world, will be brought under the same fallacies?"

Hundreds of delegates rose up and cheered with the galleries when the orator came to an end. It seemed that there was a majority up, but even the wet leaders doubted whether a roll call would show much enthusiasm for the wet cause.

Debate on the Irish plank began as soon as the convention had settled down again for business.

The Irish arguments concluded, Mr. Lyons took the platform to argue for his plank on soldier relief.

It provided for appointment of commission to study the question of "fair and just compensation" for ex-service men. He said the plank lost out in the committee by a majority of one, 26 supporting it and 27 opposing it.

With 20 minutes of his time remaining, Mr. Bryan again took the platform to carry home his battle for his minority planks. The crowd yelled again when they saw his familiar figure reappear at the speaker's table, but they soon quieted down.

Speaking for his plank for a national bulletin, the Nebraskan said he had only lacked one vote of a majority in the committee. The virtue of the publication, he said, would be that the people could get unbiased news that would be worth ten million dollars in a presidential campaign and that would prevent Wall street from building a fence of greenbacks around the White House.

Briefly he reviewed his arguments for the profiteering plank and that opposing universal military training, coming to the League of Nations again, he told the convention that no one had made more speeches than he for the ratification of the treaty without reservations. It had become a question, however, that ratification without reservations was impossible.

"Shame on the man," he continued, "that talks of making this a party question when the world is on fire. Who shall give a guarantee that the world will not drift back into war while we are here debating reservations?"

"They will never be able to erase from the pages of history," he continued, "the name of Woodrow Wilson who gave these great principles to the world. You can't call me the enemy of Woodrow Wilson. Why, it was my peace plan he took to Paris and I have done all I could to help him get it ratified."

"If I could secure its ratification and let him have the credit of it, I'd gladly walk up to the scaffold and die for such a cause."

"But it cannot be done, and I do not care to go to the judgment seat of God with any blood on my hands. I do not propose to have it said that women and children were killed while I was talking politics."

The speech-fired the hall again, and when the Nebraskan asked how much time he had left delegates and galleries joined in demanding that he go on.

"Time has been taken all the time you want," the crowd yelled as it whooped it up again for Bryan.

"No," he said, taking a drink of water, "I must turn to our domestic question."

A storm of protest from the wets interrupted the speaker as he referred to those who wanted to bring back the "dram shop."

"Be fair," yelled many of the delegates, and Mr. Bryan replied when a partial order was restored:

"If any member of the New York or New Jersey delegation or any other delegation that is wet, really is glad that the nation is gone I want him to stand up where I can see him."

A woman in the New York delegation was the first to arise in response and in a minute large sections of the delegates were on their feet cheering, taunting the speaker.

As the speech was concluded the Nebraskan came to the front of the platform and bowed as the audience kept up. A parade was soon organized on the convention floor, the Texas standard being the first to get in motion, Washington, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Arizona and other followed and then more than a score bunched in front of the speakers and the enthusiasts tore out their vocal chords with cheering.

The old "We Want Bryan," which has been heard in every Democratic convention since 1896 was about the only distinguishable yell in the great sea of sound.

There was a fight over the California standard and in the end it was torn to pieces. A woman, borne off on the shoulders of men, made off with a part of the state's name and was carried along to the speaker's stand, where she waved the remnant triumphantly before the delegates. The Alabama standard also was smashed to tatters in an effort to get it into the parade and there were scraps over the emblem of other states.

At the height of excitement a woman dressed in a costume of white to symbolize purity got to the top of the speaker's stand, and sent demonstrators wild again.

Family Day At Baptist Church Sunday will be celebrated as "Family Day" at the First Baptist church, Dr. O. O. The sermon tomorrow is one of a series Dr. Green is preaching, the one last Sunday being "God and the Individual." On the next Sunday morning he will speak on "God and the Church."

There will be special music. Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services.

ORDERS SEIZED LIQUOR RESTORED

Arguments in the petition filed by Arthur Bensinger for Park Beams for the restoration of 500 quarts of liquor seized by federal officers recently at his home on the Bardstown road, in Nelson county, were heard before Judge Walter Evans, in Louisville, on Thursday morning.

Judge Evans issued an order restoring the whisky to Beams, taking the position that the government protects "from unreasonable search or seizure," and that the sworn affidavit of anybody, enemy or otherwise, stating that he has reasonable grounds to believe is not sufficient grounds for a warrant.

OUT

Read below what the New York newspapers said of the test. Remember—the marvelous instrument used in New York City was an exact duplicate of the original Official Laboratory Model, which cost Mr. Edison three million dollars in research work. We, too, have an exact duplicate of the famous three million dollar original. We guarantee that it is capable of sustaining all the astonishing tests made on March 10th, at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Come in and hear this guaranteed Official Laboratory Model. Experience its marvelous realism for yourself. We give Mr. Edison's unique Realism Test.

The NEW EDISON

"A portion of the demonstration was even carried on without the lights, so that no one could see whether Miss Case's lips moved or not. It was all genuinely instructive, and the twin-ship between Miss Case's singing, and the reproduction thereof, proved so close as to be often indistinguishable."—New York Globe.

"When you see and hear Miss Case sing, you can scarcely believe that an art so essentially individual and personal as hers could ever be reproduced mechanically, yet the New Edison has succeeded to the point where the voice in the fluffy pink draperies and the voice in the mahogany box seemed one and the same."—New York Evening Mail.

"When the lights were lowered, it was impossible to tell when it was Anna Case, and when it was only her voice that was singing."—New York Evening Sun.

The "dark scene" test was positively sensational in its proof of the realism of the New Edison.

Anna Case, the world-famed soprano, stood beside a dignified Chippendale cabinet. She started to sing. Her voice enthralled the audience with its colorful brilliance.

Suddenly the lights went out. Densest black swallowed stage, phonograph and singer.

"The Phonograph
with a Soul"

But Miss Case's voice went smoothly on. It rose to the very heights of its superb artistry.

Then, the lights flashed on! The audience gasped with astonishment. Case was gone! Her voice had been coming from the New Edison.

Under cover of the darkness, Miss Case had stolen from the platform, leaving the New Edison to continue her song alone. The audience never knew she had gone, till the lights went up.

The exact duplicate of this instrument is here in our store,—waiting to prove its perfect realism to you.

When you come in, ask about our Budget Plan. It makes the dollar go farther—the New Edison, come easier.
